

Today, when each of us uses at least one plastic card we can say that they have become an integral part of our everyday lives.